

The scene at Loakes Park on Friday morning with the pitch completely covered with four inches of snow. Wycombe Wanderers' league match against Enfield was called off at 9.30 in the morning.

THE long-awaited Rothmans Isthmian League clash between Wycombe Wanderers and Enfield had to be postponed on Good Friday because of the fall of snow on Thursday night.

Enfield, who lead the table from Wycombe by six points, were informed of the postponement on Friday morning when local referee Bill Cleere inspected the pitch and decided no play was possible.

Loakes Park was under three inches of snow which did not clear until Saturday morning. Wycombe tried to switch the game to Saturday but Enfield were unable to oblige. No date has yet been fixed for the rearranged game.

Meanwhile, Wycombe's other major contenders for the title, Dagenham, had a most unhappy Easter holiday. On Saturday they crashed 2-1 at home to Slough Town and then yesterday (Monday) they suffered another defeat, this time 1-0 at Oxford City.

This now means that the Daggers are six points adrift of the Blues and have only one game in hand.
